This Volume

IS INSCRIBED TO

Mrs. Eckley B. Core

in evidence of the appreciation of her continued interest in and services to our beloved University felt by all Lehigh men and particularly in grateful acknowledgment of her encouragement and generous support in the erection of

Drown Memorial Hall

AND THE

Students' Pavilion at St. Luke's Hospital, buildings which have so greatly contributed to the pleasure, comfort, and well being of the student body.

This Dedication

is also made with loving remembrance of

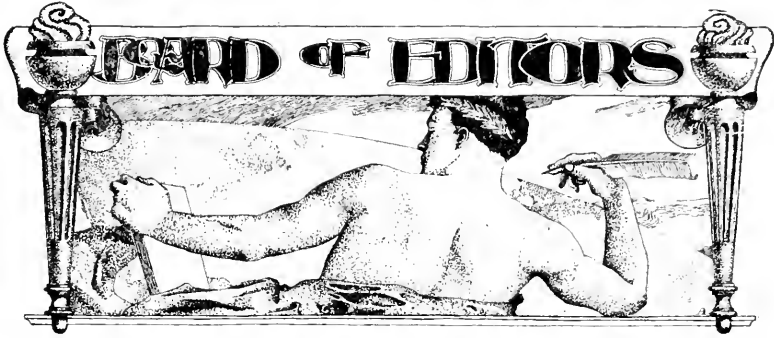

Eckley B. Core,

to whose memory Lehigh University owes a great debt of gratitude for his wise counsel, active aid and untiring devotion as a trustee.

Greeting

Divine Apollo, strike thy lyre of gold,
The Muses nine incite, not one alone,
To gentle strife, that they may help unfold
This work of ours. Oh, aid us from thy throne:
Let Clio hold her stylus poised to praise
Each noble deed and note each worthy name
Of college days. And bid Euterpe raise
Inspiring songs, sweet flowing from her lute,
While trips Terpsichore in measures light.
Let not divine Urania stay mute,
That Muse who loveth sciences exact,
For we would e'er true sons of Lehigh be,
Strong-hearted, keen of mind and pure of soul.

spread-ing chest-nuts walls in i-vy dressed, On the breast of Old South Mountain, se-cret's seek-ing, hoard-ing them like gold, All she wrests from na-ture's storehouse, lives add lus-ter to her glo-rious fame. Let the glad notes wake the ech-oes, reared a-against the sky, Stands our no-ble Al-ma Ma-ter, stands our dear Le-high.

naught es-apes her eye, Gives she glad-ly to her dear sons, while we bless Le-high.
joy-ful-ly we cry, Hail to thee, our Al-ma Ma-ter! Hail! all hail, Le-high!

T. STEWART & STEEN CO. PH. L.S.

HOW impossible it is to realize that our four years of college life are soon to be history. Three laps of this great race have been run and the fourth is now well under way; but a few short months remain in which this glorious Class of 1909 will grace the halls of our beloved Alma Mater. Our years spent here have been short or long, depending on whether the point of view be retrospective or prospective; for when, as verdant Freshmen, we looked forward to the coveted goal it seemed far in the hazy distance; but now, in looking back, it seems but yesterday that we marched arm in arm from the Chapel to the Gym. and thence to the Athletic Field, to battle for the right to live in peace and harmony. We fought a good fight, but the gods were "agin" us. However, we managed to pull through our Freshman year with fair success, both in pursuit of the intellectual and in pursuit of pleasure; not that we did not have our troubles—all Freshmen have troubles, it was so in the beginning, is now and probably ever shall be—but it is a "long lane that has no turning," and the time soon came when we, as Sophomores, guided the toddling footsteps of the 1910 infants, and kept them in the straight and narrow path. We now understood the true significance of that oft-repeated phrase, "The Divine Vocation of Teaching." What a soul-inspiring joy it was to lead those little children in the paths of righteousness, to teach them that obedience and respect toward superiors are essentials of success, and to watch their budding genius develop under our paternal instruction. Things journeyed on; we had our Sophomore Banquet, but it was a comparatively quiet affair, no one being killed or seriously injured. Nothing particularly exciting occurred during the remainder of the term, other than the intellectual excitement coincident with the mastery of our old enemy Calculus.

We returned the following September to take up the duties of Upper-classmen. Some of us, unable to resist the attractions of South Bethlehem, were back a few weeks earlier, and incidentally took a few exams. left over from the previous June. When we were thoroughly started on our third lap of the race everything went along smoothly and calmly, and the months slipped by, preparing us for the dignities of Seniority.

After a strenuous summer we were back once more—what there was left of us—Seniors at last, with all the accompanying pleasures and privileges as well as the responsibilities. We are now on the home stretch: but a short time separates us from that elusive goal known as our degree, then only the future remains for us.

As we look back, it is with a feeling of satisfaction that we have carried our burdens well. In all college activities, and especially in athletics, have we given generous support, and have been most generously rewarded in seeing the Brown and White wave triumphantly above our beaten, bumped and battered "Friend, the Enemy," in as fine a game of football as was ever played by a Lehigh team. It was the last game of football we shall see as a class, but it was one which, with its following celebration, will never be forgotten.

In our four years here we have learned much that is not included between the pages of our college register—the spirit of old Lehigh, a spirit surpassed by that of no other college, has been instilled in us. We have learned by intimate contact with our class and college mates to know a good man when we see him, an acquirement invaluable to success. We have formed friendships and a love of our Alma Mater, which will ever grow warmer as we go out into this best possible of worlds.

We are no longer nondescript individuals from anywhere, we are Lehigh men, and the quality, as well as the quantity of our achievements, must show this. We must let no opportunity slip to perpetuate the name and honor of our Alma Mater; always the best that is in us must predominate. Not one of us can for a moment afford to forget the name that is upon him, for in the eyes of men and women about him Lehigh will represent what he represents. If, when we leave this "breast of old South Mountain," we go out a great unit for fellowship and attainments, as we have been here a unit for class spirit and endeavor, and meet our fellows squarely, honestly and manfully, we shall win the right to return unashamed, for we shall have done much to help make the name of Lehigh truly great. AN old adage says: "Time and tide wait for no man." We, nearing the close of our first year as upperclassmen, realize only too well how short the time is until we shall have gained our temporary goal, graduation, and have entered upon life's struggle.

Since the birth of the illustrious class of 1910, we have been noted for power, loyalty, friendship and unity. The first few days of our initiation into college life carry no brilliant memories, but after a very short period of time we came to be recognized as one of the powers that be. As such, we passed the remainder of our Freshman year, the banquet remaining as a pleasant memory.

In addition to the pleasures and vicissitudes of a Sophomore class, our last year as underclassmen was brightened by an unusual event—unusual in so far that it was new to Lehigh. Shortly after Founder's Day, in order to show our understudies, the Freshmen, as well as the rest of the student body, the true Lehigh spirit, we tendered to the Class of 1911 a "Smoker," at which the hand of friendship was extended. The Sophomore year was brought to a successful close by the usual "Calculus Cremation," the "Pons Asinorum" to upperclassmanship.

The Junior year was ushered in by the calm tranquillity which is becoming only to those of a mature mind. It is needless to say that we showed the interest of a parent in the class of 1912, and under our guidance it bids fair to maintain our reputation.

The Junior Oratorical Contest proved that we are lacking in neither mental nor physical power, for the representatives of our class on that occasion did much to further the fame of Lehigh.

Our banquet also showed the never flagging spirit of unity, and in this, as in all other respects, we have displayed our college and class spirit. This spirit is ever needful to the making of a true Lehigh man.

PARIS 1889

PERHAPS a narrator should begin at the beginning, but a Sophomore historian may take it for granted that his predecessor has done his part of the work thoroughly; therefore it is needless to give an account of our little affairs with the class of 1910.

Our Freshman year rolled quickly by, and June found us, for the most part, full-fledged Sophomores. Then came September, and we returned to Bethlehem to take up our work where we had left off. The year had wrought its changes, as we realized when a crowd of us assembled on the campus to welcome the class of 1912. Ours was a hearty welcome, enjoyed by every one but the Freshmen.

The next afternoon we attended the opening exercises—all of us impatient for their close. After the formal opening of college we met on the Athletic field and showed the Freshmen our strength—we all have portions of that banner.

After this things quieted down a little, except for informal hazing parties every night or so at the Dormitories, in which the Freshmen took leading parts. When the Freshmen attempted to leave Saucon Hall, after their first class meeting, it required the united efforts of the entire class to do it, for twenty Sophomores stood in the doorway and blocked it. The Sophomores were not interfered with after their class meeting the week following, as they had hoped to be.

The time passed quickly, and at last came Founder's Day. The night before, we assembled at Fourth and New Streets, and started out to find Freshmen. We found them at the same time that they found us. We were outnumbered, and as a result some of our men accompanied the Freshmen to the Dormitories. But the rest of the Sophomores soon reorganized and went in pursuit, and in the boiler room, where the captives had been taken, occurred one of the best—or worst—battles of many years. Shortly after the Sophomores had effected the release of the prisoners, day broke and all hostilities were called off. Several bands of Freshmen, however, continued to stick up posters until their supply ran out.

The occasion of the Founder's Day sports was the only one on which our class did not show to advantage. We tied a hard-fought football game, lost the baseball game by a narrow margin, and were defeated in the relay race in record time.

The year is not yet gone. Already 1911 has visions of a most glorious banquet and a successful lacrosse team, and there seems to be no doubt that we will also be as ably represented on the baseball, track and lacrosse teams as we were on the football team.

And the time is coming when Lehigh will acknowledge with pride the fame and honor which will surely be won for her by the "Class of Nineteen Eleven."

LEHIGH

CALL TO ORDER

ON a clear moonlight night, September the sixteenth, the Freshmen were escorted by the Juniors in the direction of Packer Hall. We knew not where they were leading us, yet we followed, as we had always heard that the Juniors were the friends of the Freshmen. Finally, we arrived at Packer Hall, and at midnight, on its grassy slope, clashed with the Sophomores. Thus, through the kindness of the Juniors, were we introduced to Lehigh University and our "friends" the Sophomores.

At the opening exercises we were welcomed to Lehigh by Dr. Drinker, and began to feel that we were making a good impression; but this feeling of security was soon dispelled by the banner rush with the Sophomores, which occurred immediately after the opening exercises. The rush was hard-fought throughout, but we found to our dismay, when the final whistle blew, that the coveted banner was in the hands of 1911.

For a time any Freshman who incautiously ventured out of doors after seven o'clock had to run a gauntlet of Sophomores. Some were caught, taken to the Dorms, and put through a course of stunts, where they distinguished themselves as acrobats and vaudeville stars of no mean ability, especially those who had to take a turn at singing. Many a crowd of sorry-looking Freshmen repeated over and over again that famous song, "How green I am!"

The night before Founder's Day arrived, and with it the usual rush between the underclasses. The two classes clashed at New Street and Packer Avenue, and in about an hour the Freshmen had succeeded in tying up forty-three Sophomores. The balance of the Sophomores were by that time nowhere to be seen, and victory rested with the Class of 1912.

With a warm sun beating down upon the large crowd of alumni, undergraduates and friends of Lehigh gathered to do honor to the Founder of the University, the Freshmen again showed their supremacy over their rivals. The first event of the afternoon, the relay race, was won by the Freshmen. In the baseball game which followed the relay, the Freshmen had the better of the argument all the way through, and won by the score of 6 to 1. The football game was the most closely contested event of the day, and resulted in a tie at 5 to 5.

The Class of 1912 have further showed their athletic prowess by defeating both the Sophomore and Junior classes in the basketball contests, but the Senior Class was a little too much for us.

Our class has at all times shown the true Lehigh spirit, and that this spirit may never die, let us one and all resolve that we will ever keep her nearest our hearts and that, as in the Alma Mater,

“ We will ever live to love her, live to praise her name,
Live to make our lives add luster to her glorious fame.”

Mephisto Land

Tune—"Down in Colon Town"

In the land of the fire and heat,
Where the imps and the devil never sleep
You'll find "Pop" Meaker on his seat,
Down in Mephisto Land.
I chanced to hear old "Thorny" say
To "Pop" and "Jack" one winter's day,
"Our summer school must surely pay
So we must flunk them all."
I then knew well our doom had fell,
And old Lehigh must hear the cry:
To Packer Hall,
'Neath the tower tall;
I rang the bell,
Our fate to tell.
Flunk, Flunk, Flunk, Flunk, Flunk, Flunk.

CHORUS

Down in Mephisto Land,
Calculus and "Pop" walk hand in hand;
On their face is a beaming glow,
They know the fellows have no show;
The marks are placed from F clear down to Zero-Zero.
Crack! Crack! the fire sounds near-o,
Waiting for its victim with a smile-o;
We shout with glee, that we are free
From a book that's gone below,
Down in Mephisto Land.

The final laid us on our bier
And wishing Calculus to hear,
Thorny sent the message "Dear,"
Down to Mephisto Land.
So Sid was sent with the message quick
To tell the Boy they had done the trick.
We all hoped well that he would stick
Down in Mephisto Land.
But back he came that very night
With a message saying "You're not right."
The marks are high
And you must try
To give them all
A harder fall.
Bump, Bump, Flunk, Flunk, Flunk, Flunk.

C. S. K., '10.

We Sophomores Bold

Tune—"Jack and Jill"

We Sophomores bold, I've heard it told,
by nothing could be daunted,
Until at last it came to pass that "Thorny"
at us flaunted
A friend who came from realms below, a friend so big and fierce;
A demon 'twas, for he in fact filled every man with fears.

CHORUS

For his name is Calculus and he mighty near fixed us,
But, Sophomores, we are right good men;
So down he went before 1910,
And there's not the least chance he'll rise again.
So here's a good health to all of our men,
For now we may all be happy again,
Since we have downed our tyrant.

CHORUS

We went crazy over him and we each said
'twas a sin,
But Sophomores by nothing could long
be squelched,
So soon we had him on the shelf;
And there he's awaited his doom. 'TIS KILL!
So soon we will burn him with right good will,
And there'll be no little "Jack" nor "Jill"
To fetch a pail of water.

H. F. B., '10.

Sweet Dreams

Tune—"Don't You Want a Paper, Dearie?"
Have we passed our Calculus, Sophomores?
Yes, indeed, we have.
In spite of "Pop" and "Squirt" and
"Thorny,"
We've conquered it at last—'tis over.
Differentiation, Integration, "Thorny's"
Notes and all,
Consigned be to the fire old Calculus,
You would have flunked us all.

J. H. W., '08.

There came a Freshman to old Lehigh,
 He was exempt from Trig.
 And Mechanics, Analytics—Oh, he felt quite big. How easy!
 Sophomore year he came to Calculus,
 It blew him away—sky high;
 Greasy grinding, midnight fiending,
 And he made old Calculus die.

J. H. W., '08.

“Calculus”

Tune—“Gratitude.”

In college days we all must toil
 To pass a subject new,
 Which comes to us our Sophomore year,
 And wrecks us through and through.
 With might and main we strive to pass,
 But useless is our pain;
 For on the board against us checked,
 Is “You must try again.”

CHORUS.

That’s Calculus! That’s Calculus!
 In the smoky heat around you, you have found your place.
 Let never more a student see your dismal
 face;
 O Calculus! O Calculus!
 The fire is hot in every spot for Calculus.

Into a quiz we go with vim
 To do our level best;
 The night before we’ve worked so hard,
 We’ve had no time to rest.
 The questions call for limits long,
 Then we must integrate;
 But in the hall the bell strikes nine,
 Our Instructors will not wait.

C. S. K., '10.

Tune—“In the Land of the Buffalo.”
 In the region of Packer Hall,
 Was the fiend who would flunk us all,
 Where “Sidney,” “Pop” and “Thorny,”
 With hot books kept us on the go.
 It was there that we '10's met our foe,
 On the day but a short week ago,
 Now Calculus is dead,
 We have knocked it on the head,
 In the region of Packer Hall.

CAPTAIN SPEIRS

844.

THE football season of 1908 will long be remembered as one of the most successful in the history of Lehigh. Of the seven games played three were lost, but the four won included the two games which mark the season either as a success or a failure. Haverford and Lafayette were both defeated.

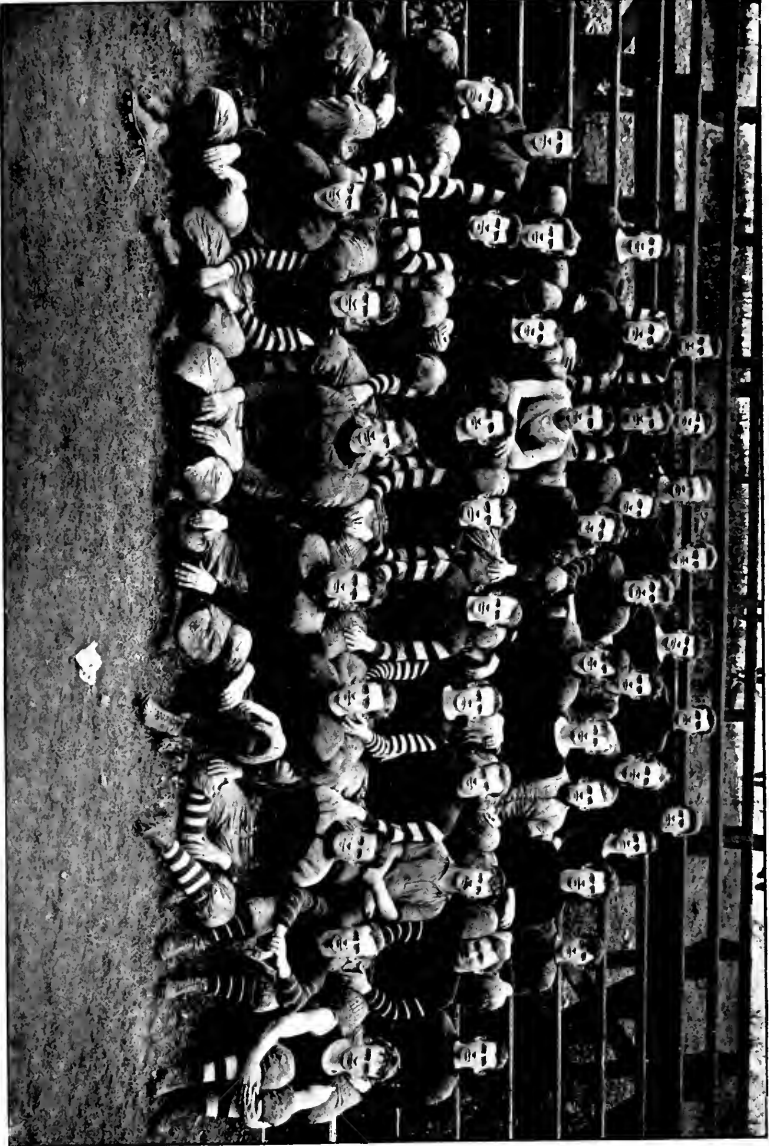

The season began with nearly the entire 1907 Varsity backfield and a number of the line men back in college. Unfortunate accidents, however, prevented the team from reaching its full strength until late in the season.

Lehigh spirit was evidenced more strongly than ever in the Lafayette game played this year at Easton. Our team showed its superiority in every department of the game, and was enabled to leave the field victorious, for the first time in five years.

The outgoing class will remove some of our best men, but the season of 1909 promises to be as successful as the past.

LEHIGH commenced the baseball season of 1908, confronted with the urgent need of good pitchers and several infield men of ability, and with a rather hard schedule to face. Aided by the faithful work of the men under many adverse circumstances, however, the season was ended in fairly good shape. Although the championship was lost to Lafayette, Lehigh managed to score on that team in a way that promises well for success in the coming season. The number of games won and the number lost were the same.

The team loses Morsack, Galbraith, Flippen and Tressler, by the usual routes, graduation and "F. O.," but there remains a splendid nucleus round which to build a winning team. That the season of 1909 will be a successful one seems already assured, as the only factors that can militate against it are injuries, and these are rare in baseball.

THOUGH the season of 1908 in lacrosse cannot be called a success in every sense of the word, the showing made was very creditable under the circumstances. A team composed of practically entirely new men had to be developed, as the season was started with only three 'Varsity men. The close game with Mount Washington showed what the team could do, and had fortune favored Lehigh a little more, both Johns Hopkins and Swarthmore might have been defeated. It was in the last game of the season, however, that the team showed its true form, defeating Stevens for the first time in four years.

Practically all of last year's team are now in college, so that the outlook for the season of 1909 is very bright.

THE season of 1908 in track evidenced an increased interest and success in this line of sport. The first meet, with Haverford, was a tie, and resulted in the winning of seven points and the breaking of three Lehigh records. A week later Lehigh met the strong Lafayette track team and was defeated by twenty points. In this meet two Lehigh records were broken. The season closed with the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate track meet in Harrisburg. Owing to the small number of Lehigh entries a rather indifferent showing was made. With the exception of one member, the entire team will return for the season of 1909. The schedule arranged is a large one, and Lehigh should have the most successful track season in years.

E. W. COOK, '12

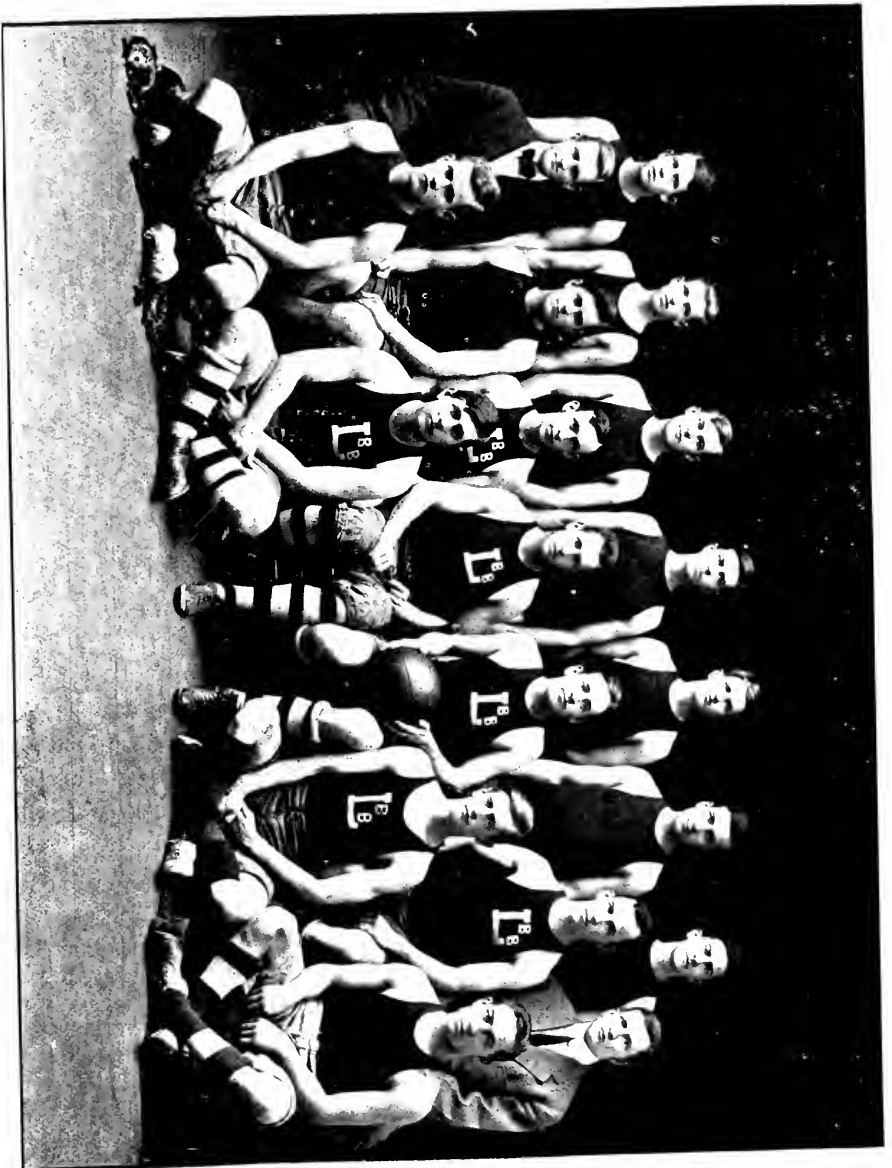

SUCCESS has again marked another season's effort in this branch of athletics, even though two of last year's 'Varsity, the best forwards Lehigh has ever had, were lost by graduation. The playing during the first part of the season lacked the aggressiveness of a winning team, due to lack of practice and the newness of the forwards. The schedule was a first-class one, including all our old-time opponents. Unfortunately, in the first game of the season, Lehigh was opposed by a very fast team and was defeated.

The material this year was of a high grade, as most of last year's men were still in college, and many Freshmen, although green at the game, developed into 'Varsity calibre. The outlook for a successful team next year is a very promising one, for while three men of this year's team will be lost by graduation, there is a very capable set of players to replace them. Therefore, with this encouraging outlook before us, we can rest assured that next year's team will bring further success to Lehigh's enviable basketball record.

THE prospects for this year's Gymnasium Team were very good at the beginning of the season, but the loss of Trembley and Horner considerably decreased them. Trembley, the captain of last year's team, was considered by intercollegiate judges to be the best man in the colleges on the parallel bars, while his work on the rings was also of a high standard. The team further suffered the loss of Johnson, by reason of a broken wrist. The remaining members of the team, however, worked hard and made a very creditable showing. The number of candidates from the Freshman Class was larger than it has been for several years, so that with the loss of but two men by graduation, the nucleus for a successful team for next season seems assured.

The Old and the New Lehigh

NEW YORK, January 11, 1909.

AS an ex-editor of the EPITOME issued by the class of '84, I gladly respond to your suggestion of a few lines on the Lehigh of our day, a quarter of a century ago, and the Lehigh of yours. The contrast is much the same as that between the EPITOME of our publication and this of yours. The idea, the underlying purpose, was the same then as now, but the scope, the wealth of material, the multiplication of details, are now much greater. We had about a hundred names in the class lists, you will have about seven hundred. We had three small fraternity chapters to enumerate, you will have at least seven times that number, I suppose. We devoted a page or two to some three or four partly imaginary student clubs and societies. You will have dozens of thriving organizations to record.

'83 and '84 were the first of the numerically strong classes, numbering about forty men each. '85 increased the figure and after that the growth was rapid. By the end of the first term of my Freshman year, I could call every man in college by name, and knew all the personal characteristics of most of them. To-day, I suppose, the most active man in the University could not recognize a quarter of his fellow students on sight.

But the Lehigh idea was the same then as now. Whatever was to be done, do it the best way possible with the means at hand. Do it better than it had been done the year before, and inject something new into the performance of the old custom, if possible. Lehigh stood for progress then, as now. She stood both for stimulated individual initiative and for self-sacrificing team work. We graduates of the first generation look to you, undergraduates of the second quarter-century of her history, to keep the same fires burning upon the same altar.

Sincerely,

A. PARKER-SMITH, '84.

The Truce of Lafayette

(WITH APOLOGIES TO RUDYARD KIPLING)

Yearly, with crowds of rooters, our football warriors go
 By the road called the Lehigh Valley, to contend in the town below;
 Yearly the "Old Grad" follows, a football veteran too,
 Who had felt, in years that are numbered, what Lafayette could do.

Coatless, hatless, breathless, he stands at the fieldhouse door,
 Making a speech to the man in togs, as he's done so oft before,
 Over and over the story, ending as he began,
 "There is no truce for Lafayette, bedecked in the garb of a lamb.

"Ye have heard the lamentation, how her best men all are spent,
 'Out of the game for the season' is the tone of her tearful lament,
 And even the members remaining, she says, are crippled and cramped,
 Unfit for the stress of battle and the strength upstream encamped.

"When she pictures herself defenseless, in a plaintive, pitiful guise,
 When she veils with craft and cunning her men's condition and size,
 When she poses as utterly helpless, and the coaches breathe despair,
 That is the time of peril. That is the time to beware."

They heed the Old Grad's warning, the football warriors do,
 They discount tales and rumors and newspaper comments, too,
 They steel their hearts to pity, undeceived are they by the sham,
 They give no truce to Lafayette, concealed in the garb of a lamb.

Collarless, coatless, hatless, after the game, on the car,
 The veteran football warrior repeats it o'er and o'er,
 Over and over the story, ending as he began,
 "There is no truce for Lafayette, with her blanket-blank flim-flam."
 T. ARCHER MORGAN, '04.

The Lehigh Arboretum

A TRACT of about six acres—a portion of which is shown in the photograph above—has recently been added to the extreme upper (south) end of Sayre Park. Through the kindness of a friend interested in the University, money has been provided to transform it into an arboretum and tree-nursery. It is proposed to fence the tract and to devote a part to the establishment of “seed-beds” and “transplant-beds” for deciduous trees and evergreens. These will form an object lesson for future Lehigh students and to all who visit the Park. Incidentally, the beds will furnish shrubs and trees (especially evergreens, in which the Park is lacking) for the future beautifying of the Park and Campus.

The rest of the tract will be devoted to forming an arboretum, where there may eventually be seen groups of trees representing all the more important species of North America. Adjoining the Park, as it does, any desirable amount of the natural woodlands can be incorporated. Such a fair, cultivated spot is destined to offer an objective point of interest to the many who are attracted to our beautiful drive by its fine construction and magnificent views.

Ye Mighty Conflict between ye Student and ye King Calculus

NOW it happened, as ye student was traveling through ye fertile plain, he chanced upon two old women sitting beside a bubbling spring. And when he had come up and drunk his fill, one old woman, whose name was Application, accosted him and inquired whither his journey led, whereat ye student told her how he was minded to make a journey, four years in length, to learn more of the world.

Then Application made known to him that not far ahead there lay a mighty desert, ruled by a tyrant king, named Calculus.

“Beware,” quoth she. “Some hath he caused to tarry many years in torment, and others hath he caused to lose their wits, so great is ye torture he inflicts. Turn back, turn back, fair youth, before it is too late.”

But ye student was a bold and valiant youth, and being unafraid, spake, “Nay, good dame, King Calculus can not affright me. I have resolved to see ye world, and I will e’en press on.”

Now when Application heard him to speak thus, she was mightily disturbed, and turning to her sister, Hardstudy, who sat near by, besought of her a bag of ye missiles which alone would avail against King Calculus. And when Hardstudy had given her a leathern bag, filled with ye missiles, well wrought and cunningly made, Application, turning to ye quiet youth, gave them to him and bade him be of good cheer.

And as ye student hastened on his way, he came upon a broad desert, even as Application had foretold. But he was of good heart and pressed on.

Now it happened that King Calculus sat in state with his three trusty counselors, Einroht, Trebmal and Rekaem, beside him, considering how he might destroy all manner of men, especially ye patient students. And as he sat considering, he spied afar off ye student traveling on, whereat he was much enraged, and snatching up his "conchoid," blew upon it a mighty blast, and called his handmaiden, ye "Witch of Agnesi."

"Ho, my 'cissoid,' my darling 'cardioid,' ho. Bring hither my 'hypocycloid of four cusps,' methinks I'll stir the fellow." Then, throwing around his shoulders his "hyperboloid of four sheets," embossed with ye "roses of three leaves," he mounted upon his "cycloid." Thus arrayed, he sallied forth. Ye "Witch of Agnesi," bearing ye "Folium of Descartes," was at his back, while up above ye "catenary" flew with claws outstretched.

When ye poor student saw such array coming forth against him he was sore frightened, and was in great mind to flee. But, feeling ye bag of missiles pressing against his heart, he took courage, and stood firm.

Now, as ye King Calculus drew nigh, he circled around and around upon his "cycloid," and cast forth a wondrous host of E's and F's. But they for ye most part fell short and did but little harm. But ye student, bringing forth ye missiles which Application and Hardstudy had given him, hurled them against his enemies. His missiles, being shapen much like A and B and C and D, wounded King Calculus sorely. But nevertheless ye fight was long and hardly fought, until by chance ye student brought to earth ye speeding "cycloid," whereat King Calculus came mightily to the ground, but rising to his feet, he cried: "My kingdom for a 'hyperbolic paraboloid.'"

Thereupon, ye youth, running lightly forward, cast full upon ye temple of King Calculus an A, well wrought and strongly, whereat King Calculus fell down as in a swoon, and lay there in his blood. Ye student would speedily have put an end to him, had not ye "Witch of Agnesi" and ye "catenary" hurriedly borne him away.

And thereupon ye student, having thus conquered King Calculus, proceeded peacefully upon his journey.

C. L. T.

There is a prof. in our school,
A man of great renown,
Who rules the ranch from A to Z
As though he wore a crown.
Now from the data given
We all can plainly see,
We're speaking of the Boss Supreme,
His Nibs—old C. L. T.

If you ever are in danger
Of his awful riascent arm,
Hit the gravel to the station,
And beat it for the farm.
Then in the Fall you'll get a note
"Entitled to a Re," Signed, in a bold and glaring fist,
"His Highness, C. L. T."

A LETTER HOME

LAFAYETTE COLLEGE, EASTON, PA.
November 21, 1908.

DEAR FATHER:

Can you send me, by return mail, about $50 of my next month's allowance, on account? I need the money in order to complete my chemical lab. equipment. There are several expenses incident to my course which fall due this month which I did not foresee when I wrote you before.

Your loving son,

JIM.

"Think all you speak, but speak not all you think."

PROFESSOR LAMBERT

THE CONFERENCE DEPARTMENT

THE establishment of the Conference Department in September, 1908, marked a forward step in Lehigh's curriculum and an innovation in general college administration; since, so far as is known, no college of the country has a similar department.

It is an exceptional man who does not, at some time or other of his life, need the kindly assistance of a friend's advice and help. To a marked extent is this true of college students, who frequently encounter some difficulty which, if not cleared away, may prove an insurmountable obstacle in the pursuit of their studies. This is particularly true of the studies coming early in the course.

With this in mind, the authorities of the University established last Fall the Conference Department, the purpose of which is to aid Freshmen and Sophomores who find any difficulty with their current work. On Wednesday and Saturday afternoons the members of this Department may be consulted without charge, and they then explain any points relating to current work. At times, on account of insufficient preparation, illness or other cause, a student may need more help with his work than can be obtained at such consultations. Such a student may obtain extra lessons on certain evenings, the rate being set very low, as it is the purpose merely to make the Department measurably self-supporting.

Under the general direction of Prof. Lambert, who also has charge of the mathematical work of this department, and who is ably assisted by representative teachers from the Departments of Physics, Chemistry and Modern Languages, this school, which has happily been called "Lehigh's first aid to the injured," has already furnished much needed help to many, and is bound to prove of untold benefit to the students of the University.

LEHIGH

O Lehigh, dear old Lehigh,
May thy fame forever sound,
Through the portals, round the altars,
Where immortal names are found.

May thy sons go forth to battle,
Armed with learning's trenchant blade,
In the world to carve a glory
Which shall never, never fade.

With thy love for truth and virtue,
All unchanging as they are,
With a purpose high and noble,
Be our guiding beacon star.

Give us strength to bear our failures;
Lead us on from height to height;
Make the least among thy children
To be worthy, through thy might.

O Lehigh, dear old Lehigh,
May thy fame forever sound,
Through the portals, round the altars,
Where immortal names are found.

A RAILROAD PRIMER

Rail-road	Switch-man
Peo-ple	Hen-dricks
In-struc-tor	Ques-tion

Is this a Rail-road? No, my child, but it is the near-est we can get to it a-round here. What is the Use of a Rail-road? To get out of Beth-le-hem, my child. We should be very grate-ful to the kind Peo-ple who built the Rail-road, shouldn't we? What are the Rails made of? Hush, my child, you must not ask such Ques-tions, the In-struc-tor will be Em-bar-rassed. Oh, see the fun-ny Man. Is he a Switch-man? No, my child that is Mr. Hen-dricks.

A Session with the Classics

PROF. STEWART—What did I discuss when we met last hour, Mr. Knauss?

KNAUSS (shaking as with St. Vitus' dance)—I don't know what you mean, Professor.

PROF. STEWART—Well, then, what points were to be brought up to-day?

KNAUSS—Why—er—

PROF. STEWART—No! No!! No!!! Now it was not "why." You remember what I told you about that word. If you don't stop using it, the hobgoblins will get you, sure. Now tell me, Mr. Knauss, did you ever hear of any tool-making machines?

KNAUSS—Why—er—

PROF. STEWART—"Why." I never heard of him. You'll go to the demnition bow-wows if you don't look out. Now, Mr. Walters, come to the rescue. Do you think we are as free as our ancestors?

WALTERS—I hardly think so.

PROF. STEWART—"Hardly think" isn't good English, is it, Mr. Flory?

FLORY (with firm confidence)—No, sir.

PROF. STEWART—Aha! See, he still takes his history as he takes his medicine and religion. Now, Flory, tell us this, what is a "tronator?"

FLORY—Never heard of it.

PROF. STEWART—Oh, ye gods! Will the days of slavery never be over? You are too hopeless—we'll let you pass the boards and try Bingham. Now, Mr Bingham, what is "suffrage?" Yes, I said suffrage. Now, don't look so dumbfounded. What is it?

BINGHAM—I don't quite understand you.

PROF. STEWART (in disgust)—Well, I'll spell it for you this time. S-u-f-f-r-a-g-e, with a capital S. Now explain.

BINGHAM—You've got me. I never heard of it before.

PROF. STEWART—Well, did you ever see it in your "History and Law" library permit? Gentlemen, it's no use. We'll try Kaufmann. Mr. Kaufmann, what is a "molly-coddle?"

KAUFMANN (with a wise smile)—I know that.

PROF. STEWART—At last I have found wisdom incarnate. Blessed me! Well, why do you sit there silent? Buttress the fame of the Reading Dutch and answer my question.

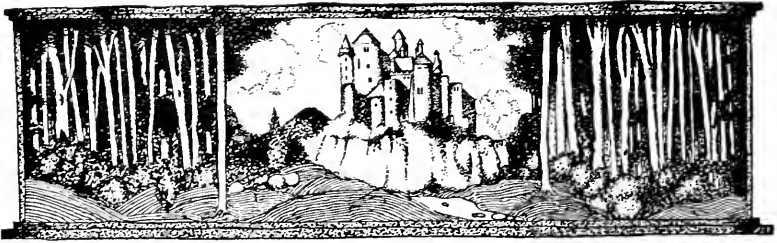

KAUFMANN—We have one of them in Reading, Professor. It's a moving picture show.

PROF. STEWART—Help! The Goths and Philistines are upon us. Gentlemen, I can stand it no longer—you are excused. Next time we will continue to-day's discussion.

“In Childhood’s Happy Hour”

Sons of Lehigh

Sons of Lehigh, brave and loyal,
Gather 'round me while we sing
Praises to our Alma Mater,
Till again the echoes ring.
Tenderly she watches o'er us,
Holds our faltering footsteps true,
Who so strong, and yet so gentle?
Kinder guidance none e'er knew.

Far across the furrowed ocean,
Through the trackless, frozen north,
Lovingly our Lehigh's children
Laud the hand that sends them forth.
E'en beyond the sunny tropics
Where the coral islands lie,
Every land that man hath trodden
Knows her fame can never die.

Sons of Lehigh, raise the chorus,
Far and wide, unite to sing,
Spread her fame and sound her praises
Till again the echoes ring.
Young and old before her altars
With one impulse bend the knee;
While we live, Oh, Alma Mater,
Still our song shall rise to thee.

P. L. ANDERSON, '01.

THE FIEND

I AM a greasy grind, I know,
I work from morn to night,
The fellows say, "Oh, quit a while,
And work some other night."

But still I wander back again
And turn leaves o'er and o'er,
I hear the fellows climb in bed,
And then a gentle snore.

I study till my head grows thick
Then turn the lamp down low,
I dream of games of football fierce,
Myself the great hero.

I am a back who's fleet of foot
They start me on a run,
I pass the end, the half, the full,
And now—the game is won!

The room is cold, my lamp is out
I wake with deepest sorrow,
I close my book and off to bed
For seven on the morrow.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

F. P. McK.—No, a slide rule is by no means to be confused with the ordinary foot-rule. The principal difference between the two is anywhere from $4.85 up.

POP M.—We regret that we are at present unable to advise you as to the best technical journal to which to submit your scientific article on "The Construction of the Sphinx. By an Eye-Witness."

S. S. S.—The "g" in "generator" has the sound of "j," not of "ch." No, the "r" is not silent.

P. W. H.—Castor-oil is a very good stand-by, and will usually help them nicely through the teething period.

Y. M. C. A.—Charley Anthony's and Carl's are both highly recommended as meeting places. The service is excellent, and the absolute quiet necessary for the transaction of business is assured.

W. L. W.—We beg to acknowledge, with thanks, the receipt of a complimentary copy of your work on "Railroads," and greatly regret that lack of time, space and inclination prevents a comprehensive review of the same at this time. We are glad to note, however, that it has been adopted as a standard text-book in the kindergarten department of the public schools in a number of the larger cities.

THE FLUNK'S PROGRESS

Takes a car,
 Not too far,
 Half an hour,
 By the tower.
 Meets a winner,
 Then for dinner,
 Sees the shows,
 Money goes,
 Supper now
 In a row,
 Then, you know,
 "She" must go.
 Leaves him there
 On the square.

Clock strikes one,
 Last car's gone,
 Do not wait,
 Catch a freight,
 From Allenstadt.
 Student got Twenty-three
 From the "she."
 In the morn
 He's forlorn,
 Any. Mach.
 Put him back.
 Home he goes,
 Sweet repose
 All he knows.

SOMETHIN' AWFUL

(The title appears particularly appropriate.—Editor.)

Well, well, the way these college chaps
 Go runnin' round without no caps,
 Nor nothin', on their heads, and pants
 Rolled up to nigh their knees, by Gantz,
 Is somethin' awful.

The way they exercise and play
 Their games on every pleasant day,
 A-sweatin' like a measly Turk,
 Yet never doin' honest work,
 Is somethin' awful.

But then I hear professors stern
 Do nothin' else but make them learn.
 Sure, that's enough to give them fits
 And make them almost lose their wits,
 It's somethin' awful.

But say!
 If colleges were picked right up
 And socked —kersplash—into the sea,
 And college fellers and their stunts
 Just weren't and couldn't be.
 That would be somethin' awful.

A Hecker Version of Salome

THE SOPHOMORE'S LAMENT

Plug, plug, plug,
On thy Calculus, C. L. T.,
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me.

O well for the Senior grand,
With the end of his course in view.
O well for the Freshman green,
O well for the Junior too!

And the quizzes still go on
With their old time-honored tricks,
But O for a problem that I might work
And the sight of a "Baldy Six."

Flunk, flunk, flunk,
In the final, C. L. T.,
For the mark I get, when my work is done,
Will never come up to "D."

THE LEHIGH-LAFAYETTE GAME

We're sorry for the man who's down
And cannot spare the dollar,
But damn the man who'll stay in town
Because he hates to holler.

LITTLE EVA		"POP" MEAKER

*"Laugh at your friends, and if your friends be sore,
So much the better — you may laugh the more."*

PROF. MEAKER (at chapel)—"I don't know what the organ selection for this morning is. I don't think it makes any difference anyhow." (Proceeds with the reading of the lesson).

"PROF." BECHHOEFER (formerly of the B. & O.)—"Do they ever build rectangular round houses?"

PROF. OGBURN—"This formula is practically a back number, so far as the solution of problems is concerned."

BECHTEL, '08—"Is it a back number so far as quizzes are concerned?"

MR. HENDRICKS (in Junior Railroads)—"What is a stiff frog?"

DOBSON, '10—"A dead one."

DR. BABASINIAN—"The word 'oxygen' means 'acid former.' How do you account for its being so named when certain acids contain no oxygen?"

FRESHMAN (dubiously)—"I guess the man who named it didn't know his business."

PROF. LANDIS—"The French journals on this subject are of a much higher grade than our own yet."

SAUBER, '09 (in Business Law)—“When does a woman become of age?”

PROF. STEWART—“The same time you do, maybe—never.”

TORREY, '09 (in Strength of Materials)—“I know that the ancients used to hammer wrought iron, because Prof. Richards said he went to the Paris Exposition and saw them do it.”

PROF. OGBURN—“Why, in several years some of you may be teaching Thermodynamics or something like that at some University. The others will be out making money.”

PROF. FRANKLIN—“The ether has three dimensions—north, south, east and west.”

MR. HENDRICKS (in Junior Railroads)—“Bled ingots should never be used for rails.”

DOBSON, '10—“Do they bleed them on purpose?”

RAUCH, '11 (in Public Speaking)—“Some time in the future lead bullets will be made of gold.”

IN SANITARY ENGINEERING—“Chicago takes its water supply from Lake Michigan.”

JAGGARD, '09—“How do they get the salt out of it?”

PROF. MEAKER—“Mr. Boyd, if you would remove your feet from the back of the seat in front of you, perhaps you might be able to see the board better.”

FLEMING, '09 (at a reception)—“Bring me an ice, will you?” (Person addressed turns, revealing the features of Prof. Stewart.)

FLEMING (considerably fussed, attempting to apologize)—“Oh—er—I—I—er—beg your pardon, but really, you know, I—er—took you for a waiter.”

PAGE, '10—“Going to hear Schwab's lecture to-day?”

APPEL, '10—“What's he going to talk on?”

PAGE—“Watered stocks.”

APPEL—“That so? I didn't know he was a farmer.”

PROF. LANDIS—“I can tell you the title of the book, but I can't give the title of the author just now.”

FIRST JUNIOR CIVIL—“Why is a soft shirt like Windy's 'Railroads?’”

SECOND JUNIOR CIVIL—“Give it up.”

FIRST JUNIOR CIVIL—“Because it does not need to be studded.”

(Funeral from residence of deceased. No flowers.)

PROF. STEWART—"Speaking of mammals, we have the whale. Mr. Gilmore, what is a mammal?"

GILMORE, '10—"Anything that walks on two legs."

KNAUSS, '10 (on learning that he has made a 9.8 in a quiz, disgustedly)—"I know now where I went up in the air."

DOBSON, '10 (in Crystallography quiz)—"An amorphous substance is a substance you can't see through."

MR. LOCKNER—"What would happen if friction were so great the body would not move?"

WELLS, '11—"The body would stand still."

PROF. LANDIS—"Silicon gets in because it's never all taken out."

PROF. OGBURN—"How do you know that is the equation of a parabola?"

JUNIOR ANY. MACH. VICTIM—"I don't, but I'm willing to take the author's word for it."

PROF. STEWART—"Mr. Bingham, when we speak of 'arboreal instincts,' what do we mean by 'arboreal'?"

BINGHAM, '10 (decidedly)—"In the likeness of a tree."

At five-minute intervals, in Mineralogy Lab.:

"Sure it's scratched."

"No, it isn't."

PROF. STOCKER—"Ach, I can't take that distance. I get too soon up to the top of the blackboard, isn't it?"

G. STOCKTON, '10 (at Glee Club rehearsal)—"What is next to second base?"

R. STOCKTON, '10—"Shortstop."

REES, '10 (in Strength of Materials)—"Take these figures and juggle them around, and you'll get the answer."

NOTICE POSTED IN PACKER HALL—"Will the person who took my 'Folwell's Water Supply' kindly loan it to me until I pass the course?"

*————— (in Junior Railroads)—"Is it a fact that fishplates are used only in rainy weather?"

* Name withheld by request.

PROF. LANDIS (in Metallurgy)—"The basic open-hearth process will make good steel from any material put into the furnace." (That's going some).

PROF. LANDIS (in Metallurgy)—“A stream of pulverized air.”

MORRIS, '09 (at a slimly-attended cheering practice)—“Any one who doesn't turn out for cheering practice is a shyster. I'm not talking to you fellows who are here now, but to those who are not here.”

FORCE, '10—“How can you tell when a railroad rail is worn out?”

PROF. LANDIS—“At the Steel Works, the first furnace we shall run into on our inspection trip will be—”

(Hot work, these inspection trips.)

KILLOUGH, '10—“Mileposts are set every half mile along a railroad.”

Now that we have Drown Hall, the Library has degenerated into nothing more than a notorious Classical resort.

MR. HENDRICKS (in Junior Railroads)—“There are a great many number of nutlocks in use.”

KETCHAM, '09—“If this engineering lab. were worth anything, Mr. Jones, it would be a different matter.

PROF. CONKLIN (in Strength of Materials)—“Mr. Downs, were you out very late last night?”

“PUG” DOWNS, '10 (uncertainly)—“I don't know.”

BINGHAM, '10—“Let's go over to the dance to-night.”

PROF. BLAKE (in Arts and Science Club meeting, discussing Meredith's “Diana of the Crossways”)—“I know it would take at least three women to make either Diana or Emi, and if I could squeeze them—”

(Oh you kid.)

JUNIOR CIVIL—“Property corner stones are generally made of stone.”

PROF. STEWART—“When did the United States become the leading steel producer?”

MAY, '10—“She always has been.”

PROF. STEWART—“Why, you blessed little damsel.”

PROF. WILSON—“You can't set up your thinking machine like a camera and take a shot at the answer.”

PROF. STEWART—“Mr. Kaufman, what do you read during the summer?”

KAUFMAN—“Oh, a few novels.”

PROF. STEWART—“Oh, novels! All women read novels.”

ROBBINS, '10—"Professor, I have been reading that our most scientific thinkers think best while they are walking."

PROF. HUGHES—"Correct, Mr. Robbins, correct. I find that to be true in my case."

THE CHOIR—The last resort of the languid chapel fiend.

MR. HENDRICKS (in Junior Railroads)—"Mr. Bechhoefer, what is the method of doing this on the B. & O?"

"JIM" MYERS (who prides himself on knowing everybody in college, picking up picture of Lafayette bonfire dummy shown on page 260)—"That's funny. I thought I knew all our team, but I don't recognize this fellow."

BRUMBAUGH, '09 (in Analytical Mechanics)—"What's the dope on this next quiz, professor?"

TIMPSON, '12 (in Qualitative Lab.)—"Is the acid in those big bottles very conjugated?"

PROF. THORNBURG—"Anybody making a statement like that doesn't know anything about what he's talking about."

ROLL, '10—"A circular mil is the area of a circle one mil on a side."

KILLOUGH, '10 (in Hydraulics)—"The level of the water in the two vessels is read simultaneously at the same moment."

MERRIMAN, '10 (aggrievedly)—"They gave me a cut in Railroads to-day just because I was fifteen minutes absent."

DO YOU KNOW HIM?

"Chase it out now."

"However, the principle remains the same."

"That'll all come out in the wash."

"Now, friend, friend——"

"In Boston, however——"

"It is interesting to note——."

NEW FEATURE OF DROWN HALL

A complete set of push-buttons will shortly be installed in Drown Hall, enabling any student desiring ice-water, chocolate, stationery, etc., to ring for Ashbaugh, thus reducing the time lost from study or recreation to a minimum. Freshmen, however, will not be permitted to make use of these push-buttons until after the Christmas vacation.

A YOUNG T———G (running in breathless)—"Oh papa, Jimmie has fallen down the well."

MR. T———G (turning to Mrs. T———g)—"My dear, have we a Jimmie?"

You matriculate at college with aspirations high,
Your progress is so easy to foretell,
You will take a batch of prizes, you will make Tau Beta Pi,
And win the Wilbur Scholarship as well.
As reward for all your efforts you will get a string of A's,
And when they hand you over your degree,
They will throw in with the sheepskin, as a sort of souvenir,
The coveted Phi Beta Kappa key.
You will have a try at football, at baseball and lacrosse,
And make an "L" or two, without a doubt,
You will captain teams to victory against poor Lafayette,
You will—

And

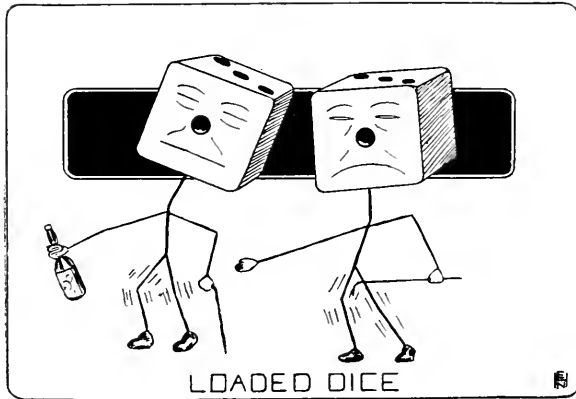

Then

Your

Pipe

Goes

Out!

OF COURSE

If you owe the University a little bill or two,
And you call on Mr. Ashbox when the little bill comes due,
To say the check you looked for has neglected to appear,
Does he say: "It doesn't matter—bring it round this time next year."

Certainly!

When you take a "re" in Calculus, or Trig., or Any. Mach.,
And find the problems given are too knotty to attack,
When you call on Thorny later to inquire about the "re,"
Does he say: "You flunked, but never mind, we'll pass you on a 3."

Always!

When September's days are with us and you languidly proceed
Up to the Supply Bureau to get the books you need,
And you find you haven't got enough to pay the total due,
Do they say: "Oh, never mind it, we will charge them up to you."

Undoubtedly!

The Sporting News in
The Philadelphia Press
IS FAMOUS

FIRST—FOR ITS ACCURACY AND RELIABILITY
SECOND—FOR ITS FAIRNESS TO ALL SIDES
THIRD—FOR ITS COMPLETE REPORTS AND UP-TO-DATE NEWS
FOURTH—ITS STAND FOR CLEAN SPORT

The reader of a Philadelphia Newspaper has not much choice when it comes to a selection of a well-balanced newspaper. There is but one leader. It's THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS every time. THE PRESS covers all the news of the day, written by clever writers. It covers all lines of special news, including United Service Orders and naval movements, which are of especial interest to army men, and its constantly increasing circulation is evidence of its popularity. It is progressive. Its aim is to build up and not to tear down.

Hugh Doyle's famous cartoons, appearing in THE PRESS daily and Sunday, depict the humorous side of boxing and other sports.

If you want The Best Newspaper—and the best costs no more than the poorest—one that is alive and up-to-date and fit for all members of the family, why, just buy

STUDENTS KEEP POSTED!

But don't WASTE money on a lot of technical papers. We will read them ALL for you and give you more information of real value in one month than you could obtain otherwise in six months.

THE ENGINEERING DIGEST

is the only publication of the kind in the world, and renders a service of inestimable value to the practical engineer or the engineering student who wishes to keep in touch with up-to-date technical information. It enables him to locate immediately articles that would otherwise never have come to his attention, and forms an invaluable guide in his selection of books and periodical literature.

It has been indorsed in the most commendatory words by such men as

HENRY S. DRINKER, President Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa.,
MILO S. KETCHUM, Dean College of Engineering, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado,
PROF. WM. T. SEDGWICK, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.,
HENRY S. JACOBY, Prof. Bridge Engineering, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.,
HENRY T. BOVEY, Dean of Faculty of Applied Science, McGill University, Montreal, Can.,
CHARLES DERLETH, Jr., Prof. Structural Engineering, University of California, Berkeley, Cal.,
PROF. A. N. TALBOT, University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.,

and hundreds of other educators as well as by librarians, engineering corporations, manufacturers and by the press generally. The Editorial Management is in charge of G. Harwood Frost (Lehigh, '93), Manager of the Engineering News Book Department.

Moravian Seminary for Young Ladies

FOUNDED 1749

The oldest school of its kind in America, with a century and a half of history and experience yet furnished with all modern equipments, and pursuing the latest improved methods.

We do not especially prepare for college, but for LIFE. Our course of study is carefully planned to give a complete and solid education, and make our graduates broadly cultured and truly refined women, fit to meet all the duties and demands of the best modern society and a useful active life.

Our thorough scholastic instruction is only half our work. We give equal care and attention to the training of the characters of our pupils, the formation of right habits of thought, feeling and conduct, and the development of all those qualities, virtues and graces, that enter into a self-respecting, strong and true Christian womanhood.
